Paying an invoice with a variable customer reference number, what does that mean?

The BPAY customer reference number for this invoice or bill changes each time a new invoice is issued. This does not change how easy it is to pay with BPAY, it just means you need to enter in the new customer reference number from your paper invoice each time you pay.

Paying by BPAY remains as five simple steps:

To Pay with BPAY

- 1 Register for internet, phone or mobile banking with your financial institution, if you haven't already
- 2 Look for the distinctive BPAY logo on your bills
- 3 Log on to your internet banking site or call your phone banking services

This bill has a variable customer reference number meaning it changes with each new bill. You need to ensure you enter the customer reference number from your paper bill each time you make a payment.

- 4 Select the BPAY or bill payment option and follow the simple instructions. Make sure that you always provide the new customer reference number from your paper invoice or bill (even if it is pre-populated within your internet bank site)
- 5 Wait for and record your receipt number

BPAY puts you in control

On average over 6 million payments are made through BPAY every week. With BPAY you can pay from the security of your own bank, on the 'net' (via PC or mobile*) or over the phone. And you have total control of you payments 24/7. You can pay one off bills or schedule payments for later#. It's really that simple!
